Events

Those special scenes happen out of the scope of the players. They reflect the plans of the antagonists and allies, their natural reactions. They do not change anything most of the time, but if they are linked to another scene, that scene might show the consequences of an event.

Scenes

This is the adventure, running from the introduction scene to the multiple debriefings. The first introduction is often global, you might found individual introductions for each players (if they are prerolled characters).
