Events

Those special scenes happen out of the scope of the players. They reflect the plans of the antagonists and allies, their natural reactions. They do not change anything most of the time, but if they are linked to another scene, that scene might show the consequences of an event.

Kinfolk backup

Five kinfolk are here to make things better for the mission. They all took part essentially during preparation, and some of them will stay here for cleaning up if necessary.

- Mark Simson: FBI agent, had intelligence about this train from contacts in Vancouver.
- Michael Thompson: He will be the train specialist for the week, good with mechanics and electric systems in general.
- Nadja Mohendri: Former stuntwoman, she will help with all athletic feats needed to get on the train
- Joel Lamartine: Canadian hacker, drone specialist, can make sure of the communication and the follow up between wolves.
- Ellen Stewart: kinfolk of Eric Anderson from the Winter Court. Will provide the specific communication headsets (4 of them). Those are considered talents that will work for three days.

Description

- Falling from a train causes bashing damage.
- Falling from a running train cause lethal damage
- Falling on under the rails of a running train will cause aggravated damage.
- Jumping between coaches is a DEX + Athletics feat (diff is 7 when going forward, 6 when going in the reverse direction from the train motion).
- Most coaches are rigged with tarpolin. It's easy to open at the extremities of each coach. That makes four access points per coach. Cutting the tarpolin is done with 3 lethal damage or 1 aggravated. One stealthy way to do that is to cut the strings linking the tarpolin to the rig.
- Coaches junctions are quite solid. It will be a STR+Craft DV 8 to separate two.

- Umbral travel through a train can be tricky when the vehicle is in motion.
- Darwin has found one solution for this, he asked a bird spirit to trace an airt along the rails. If a garou asks the bird spirit to bring it to a specific point, it can appear on the top of the running train with no problem. Leaving the train through the Umbra is another problem.
- The train goes at 60mph
